Presenter: Bill Staby

CEO, Resolute Marine Energy (USA) and Director, Resolute Marine Limited (Ireland)

Wave energy has great promise as an inexhaustible, consistent and predictable renewable energy resource but, so far, there have been few commercial applications for the many technologies that are trying to establish a profitable business model. In his presentation, Mr. Staby will provide insights into the thinking that has driven his organization to focus on certain selected niche markets as a way to prove the technological and economic viability of wave energy in certain specific commercial applications.
